

AP Government / Honors Political Economy

Aspects to include in this section:

- Year long - Coupled with Honors Political Economy
- AP-Level Course Preparing you for the AP Exam
- Seniors ONLY w/ recommendation from History teacher
- Workload: Reading every night... 40-60 min. Textbook, as well as current political news stories and academic journal articles.

Course Description

This is a college-level, A-G approved, introductory course in political science and political economy.

We will examine all aspects of American government and macroeconomics from the philosophical basis of the Constitution to current events and how they relate to the theory of government.

Grading in APG is standards-based with student grades determined by performance on multiple choice and free response unit tests, as well as midterm and final exams.

Course Work

Data Analysis
Analytical Writing
Debates/Discussions
Academic Articles
Current Events/Politics

Why YOU Should Take AP Government:

- Fulfills graduation requirements for Government AND Economics.
- Students will learn about modern political and economic issues facing the US and World today.
- Students engage in interesting conversations & debates about controversial issues in order to make sense of the world today.

Learn everything to be successful on the AP Exam
while becoming an informed and active American citizen!